THE RESEARCH QUESTION

How can the Manufacturing and Life Sciences (MLS) sector develop a methodology for generalizing a long-lead facility with an undefined manufacturing process?

THE RESEARCH PROJECT

This research team expects to build upon the other work CII has performed (i.e., Fast Track, FEP planning and modularization) and generate deliverables that would provide a methodology or tool for evaluating which specific parts of a project can be generalized to aid in the development of a flexible facility.

THE MANUFACTURING & LIFE SCIENCES SECTOR COMMITTEE

Our company has been a member of CII for over 20 years and we remain a member given the continued value we realize to our capital delivery programs from the research-based best practices and tools available. Furthermore, CII has provided a benchmarking platform that enables us to compare our capital delivery performance to not only the overall construction industry, but also to our specific business industry.
